Educational Principles

Education at Roskilde University is based on the following principles: Interdisciplinary and problem-orientation, project work, team work and close interrelation between research and education.

Interdisciplinary & problem-orientated work	Roskilde university has focused on new ways of learning based on research and interdisciplinary bachelor and master's programs. In their research, students are encouraged to demonstrate how different theoretical approaches may contribute to the understanding of a specific issue.
Project work	Students are trained to organise and prepare major written reports presenting the results they have achieved through their surveys and analyses. See more here: https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=NBGlDWwGylE
Group work	Group work is the basic study method throughout the study programs. It teaches the students the importance of responsibility and cooperation.
Strong link between research and education	At Roskilde University, researchers are assigned to the individual project groups to act as their supervisors. The supervisors actively cooperate with the group acting as consultants and sources of information in the discussions they participate in.

Danish Evaluation and Grading System

There are two evaluation systems in Denmark – the 7-point grading scale (see below) and pass/fail.

For more information about the evaluation of specific courses at Roskilde University, please consult: www.kursus.ruc.dk or contact our departments.

7-point grading scale:

Danish mark	Explanation of the mark	Equivalent ECTS mark
12	Is given for an excellent performance, displaying a high level of command of all aspects of the relevant material with no or only a few minor weaknesses	A

Accommodation

Roskilde University has access to a limited number of rooms for our exchange students. These are assigned after a “first come, first served” principle.

Students will receive an e-mail containing information on campus accommodation and application procedure when you are accepted as an exchange student at Roskilde University. Expected in June for autumn semester and in November for spring semester.

We do not give guarantees but normally we are able to accommodate most exchange students.

Application procedure and deadlines	All accepted incoming exchange students are contacted personally (by e-mail) with information about the application procedure and deadlines.
