

Call for Submission of Chapters in Edited Book

Extended till
September 30, 2024

For anticipated publication in the Springer book series on INFORMED DECISIONMAKING FOR SUSTAINABILITY

The leadership of the Global Indigenous Youth Summit on Climate Change (GIYSCC) invites book chapter submissions from presenters and participants at the 1st and 2nd editions as well as other interested contributors.

Contributions are invited on themes covering but not limited to:

- Climate change perception, knowledge and diplomacy
- Current realities on climate impact
- Climate change and Indigenous heritage
- Indigenous Peoples and Climate Change Adaptation/Resilience Strategies
- Future perspectives on climate change
- Climate change communication
- Climate change and diplomacy
- Indigenous Land-rights as climate resiliency
- Ongoing settler colonialism as human-created climate challenges
- Indigenous Land-based learning as climate actions
- The role of youths in climate change adaptation and decision making
- Co-production of knowledge on climate change between Indigenous and Western systems, and so on.

For further information, please contact us at giysccbook@gmail.com

Temitope O. Sogbanmu, PhD

For: Book Co-Editors

Instructions for Book Chapter Contributors:

- Interested contributors/authors should submit a working chapter title and abstract/synopsis of their proposed contributions on/before September 30, 2024 at this link.
- Scholars, researchers, and practitioners are invited to submit a title and 250-300 words abstract that describe the background, purpose, concepts, research methodology/approach, findings as well as conclusion/recommendation for the proposed chapter.
- Decisions regarding the submitted abstracts will be provided from September 15 to October 2, 2024 and authors will be required to submit their FULL chapter(s) on/before February 28, 2025 for peer review.

<https://bit.ly/giysccbookchapter>